THE BIG DEAL

"Your call is ready, sir," the secretary said.

"Oh, thank you, Miss Smith. I'll take it in here.

"Perkins? How are you?

"... Good. Glad to hear it. How's the wife?

"... Um hmm... um hmm.

"Say, I'll tell you why I called. You know that little matter I was talking about at lunch the other day.

"... That's right. Well, I thought we might take care of it this afternoon.

"... The assistant director? No, I don't think he'll be able to make it. Can you meet me at two?

"... Well, it shouldn't take us more than a couple of hours.

"... That's right. Last time it took less than three hours, didn't it?

"... No, I didn't think so. Will you bring the stuff we'll need?

"... Well, I can bring those.

"... No, my wife won't mind my being late for dinner. She understands. Are you sure this afternoon is the most convenient time for you?

"... All right, then. My secretary will take care of things here at the office while I'm gone.

"... Fine. I'll meet you in a half hour and we'll play 18 holes."

CLOYD HECK MARVIN
President of the University

Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, a long-standing friend and advisor of students and faculty, last year completed his 25th year as President of The George Washington University. Feted on numerous occasions for his service to the University, Dr. Marvin this year continues on the road he has taken of diligent and patient expansion and improvement of this institution. Recent developments have been the enlargement of the University Library and construction on the new Cancer Clinic.

THE JUNIOR COLLEGE

The Junior College, established in 1930, comprises the first two years of the standard four-year college program in the liberal arts and sciences. The Junior College curricula continue the studies of a general cultural nature, and lay a foundation for the more specialized work which is to follow. Emphasis is placed upon the social, cultural, biological, and physical background of civilization, and upon the discipline necessary to the carrying out of more advanced work. The Junior College also provides the pre-professional work required for admission to the schools of Pharmacy, Education, and Government, and the first two years of the pre-professional work required by the schools of Medicine and Law.

DIVISION OF SPECIAL STUDENTS

The Division of Special Students was organized in 1944. To this Division may be admitted students who are in the process of qualifying for degree candidacy. The schedule of the special student is made up of courses required in the curriculum to which he wishes to transfer. He may be transferred to another college or school of the University upon complying with the regulations of the specific college or school.

DIVISION OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

The Division of University Students, established in 1930, is a division in which are registered students who wish to take University courses either for credit or as auditors, but who are not at this time working toward degrees in this University. A University student may be transferred to another college or school of the University upon complying with the regulations of the specific college or school.

COLLEGE OF GENERAL STUDIES

The College of General Studies, established in 1950, is designed primarily to supplement the adult education opportunities previously available at the University. The Off-Campus Division works closely with personnel administrators, training officers, school officials, and others interested in developing programs of employee in-service training and brings the educational resources of the University to bear on such programs.

THE AWAKENING

Four years in this factory and I'm finally getting out . . . what a battle . . . those last few credit hours were the worst . . . never thought I'd make it . . . if I had to take one more exam I think I'd jump off the Calvert Street bridge . . . "Compare and/or contrast . . ." (moan) . . . "Trace the development of . . ." No, not another "trace" question . . . those profs probably don't even read the "concise, thoughtful" answers they ask for . . . well, they'll never read another one of mine . . . and those lectures . . . if they'd only learn to speak so you could understand them . . . well, I'll never have to listen to the "Life cycle of the Cuttlefish" again, anyway . . . no more fighting for a table in the Union at noon . . . using up two gallons of gas every morning looking for a parking place . . . no more night classes . . . I don't know, though . . . those night classes weren't so bad . . . and those parties afterwards . . . I'll sure miss the football games . . . those bull sessions the night before the exam were fun, too . . . the Sunday exchanges and all the dances weren't bad . . . easy to meet people while you're in school, too . . . A job? . . . No, I guess I'll go on and take a master's.

COLUMBIAN

COLLEGE

Columbian College was founded in 1821 for the "sole and exclusive purpose of educating youth in the English, learned and foreign languages, the liberal arts, sciences and literature," with full power to confer all degrees "usually granted and conferred in colleges." In 1930, when the Junior College was established, the name "Columbian College" was given to the senior college of liberal arts. The purpose of the Columbian College is to round out the program of liberal education begun in the Junior College and to bring to a focus educationally the individual talents and aptitudes of the student of liberal arts and sciences.

GRADUATE COUNCIL

The Graduate Council offers a program of advanced study and research leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. It provides a doctoral discipline which moves freely across administrative lines dividing departments of instruction or fields of study. It gives personal supervision to a limited number of students, each of whom has his own consultative committee, examinations, and research direction.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

The purpose of the School of Education is to prepare teachers, supervisors, and administrators for the higher ranges of educational service and to offer opportunities to teachers of experience to extend their education. It includes the departments of Education, Physical Education, and Home Economics, and it offers both graduate and undergraduate work. Course schedules are arranged to meet the convenience of both full-time and part-time students. By attending evening, Saturday, and summer classes, teachers in the schools of Washington and vicinity may complete all the requirements for a degree without giving up their positions.

SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT

The George Washington University has provided training in both foreign service and governmental theory and administration throughout its history. The School of Government was established in 1928 to bring together in various undergraduate and graduate curricula this work. It is the purpose of the School to give the student an understanding of his responsibilities under the Constitution of the United States in the conduct of public office—domestic and foreign. This can be accomplished through a curriculum which correlates social, economic, political, historical, business, and psychological studies.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

In 1867 the National College of Pharmacy was founded by the Apothecaries' Association of the District of Columbia. It was opened in 1872, and in 1906 became affiliated with The George Washington University. The School of Pharmacy is accredited by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education as a class "A" school, and it is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy. The student has at his disposal not only the government libraries, but also the American Institute of Pharmacy building, in which have been established a pharmaceutical museum and library and research laboratories which have brought to Washington the outstanding men of the profession.

THE PROJECT

The men piled into the station wagon, faces grim and set with determination.

"Ready?" asked the driver.

"Yes. Let's go and get it over with," said the one with the cap pulled down over his eyes.

No one said a word during the long ride. And then all at once they were there, dragging equipment out of the back and making preparations for the arduous task ahead.

"Bring that thing over here."

"O.K."

"No, wait! Maybe it ought to be a few feet more to the right."

"You'll never be able to see it there."

"Yes, you will, just try it . . . well, maybe you're right. Pick it up and bring it over here."

"Here?"

"Hmm . . . I don't know. The ground is pretty soft."

"Hey," shouted the man with the low-slung cap, "How about here?"

"Is the ground hard enough?"

"Sure. A two-ton elephant wouldn't leave a dent."

"Well, let's see . . . Come on, let's move it again."

"Say, this seems to be the spot for it, all right."

"O.K. Set it up, boys. Easy now . . . watch the plumb line . . . Is it all right?"

"Perfect."

"Now line it up just right . . . How does it look?"

"Oh, that's fine."

"Good. This'll be the best old bird-bath on the whole campus."

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

The School of Engineering was organized as the Corcoran Scientific School, and in 1903 it was combined with the Columbian College. In 1914 it became the School of Engineering. Courses leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Civil Engineering, Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering, and Bachelor of Electrical Engineering are accredited by the Engineers' Council for Professional Development, the recognized accrediting body of the engineering profession, made up of representatives of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society for Engineering Education, the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners.

ENGINEERS' COUNCIL

According to the constitution of the Council, "The general purpose of the Council shall be to provide liaison between the student body of the school of Engineering of the George Washington University, in all matters affecting the general interests and welfare of the student body, the School of Engineering, or the University." The constitution further states that the Council shall sponsor the Annual Engineers' Ball, the Annual Engineers' Banquet, joint society meetings, mixer meetings, and other cooperative affairs.

As a general rule, no other type of organization is as indefinite in purpose and action as a "coordinating body". However, the Ball, the Banquet, the more and more popular mixers, and a very broad interpretation of the word coordinating have made a useful and vital organization of the Engineers' Council.

The Council is made up of two representatives from each of the member organizations, and the Business Manager of the Mecheleciv magazine. Officers of the Council are elected at the first meeting by vote of the newly elected representatives. At the present time there are six organizations which are members of the Council.

SIGMA TAU

Sigma Tau, G.W.'s honorary engineering fraternity, was founded in Lincoln, Nebraska on February 22, 1904. In its 49 years of existence it has attained nationwide recognition and prominence. Early in 1930, Sigma Tau accepted an invitation to join the Association of College Honor Societies. Xi Chapter, one of 28 chapters on university and college campuses throughout the United States, was established at George Washington University on April 18, 1921.

Membership to Sigma Tau is selected from those men who rank in scholarship among the upper third of the junior and senior classes of the Engineering School. However, this is but one of the requirements for membership. Those who have attained the necessary scholarship must have demonstrated a willingness to participate in the University functions, such as actively joining the engineering societies and attending university-sponsored group activities. The prospective member must also exhibit the practical qualities that are necessary attributes to every successful engineer.

MECHELECIV

The Mecheleciv magazine is published at the George Washington University by the direction of the Engineers' Council. The staff of the magazine is composed of engineering students who compile, edit, and publish six editions per year.

The purpose of the magazine is to present technical articles written by the undergraduate students, publicize and create interest in the engineering societies and fraternities, and to offer an opportunity for future engineers to acquire the skill of technical writing.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

The George Washington University Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers is composed of students in the School of Engineering who are studying for the degree of Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering.

On the first Wednesday of each school month, the ASME has a combined social and technical meeting. Speakers from the Washington area and sometimes representatives from companies in the East are invited to give talks on various aspects of engineering. Movies are often included in the program. Refreshments are usually served after the meetings, thus giving members a chance to get better acquainted with their fellow students and their professors. The Student Branch also arranges inspection trips to places of interest to the student engineer such as the Naval Gun Factory, the Naval Ordnance Laboratory, the Bureau of Standards, and generation stations of the Potomac Electric Power Company. These trips are free and are scheduled for the benefit of the student.

The complicated job of mechanical engineering can often be accomplished with the simplest of tools, as here demonstrated by Harry Kriemelmeyer, who is wielding a monkey wrench.

First row: J. Hughes (sec), W. Scott (engineers' council), H. Musselman (v. chrmn.), W. German (chrmn.), R. W. Green (treas.), A. E. Proctor (eng. council), N. Ames (counselor). Second row: J. Mayosky, H. Brandler, E. Prada, S. Servidio, H. Wong, J. Moraes, W. Harris.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

The AIEE presents an opportunity to participate in a professional society and to become acquainted with other engineering associates who are either studying or practicing their profession.

The Branch was established in 1932, and active membership is open to all students enrolled in electrical engineering. Meetings are held on the first Wednesday of every month during the Fall and Winter semesters. Noted authorities on electrical engineering and related subjects are the principal speakers at the meetings.

The American Society of Civil Engineers was the first National Engineers Society to be formed in the United States and during the time following has done splendid work in promoting high standards of engineers. At the regular meetings, lectures are given by men of prominence, usually from various government agencies in the Washington area. Field trips give the members of the society an opportunity to see the application of the engineering theory of their text books.

THETA TAU

Theta Tau fraternity was founded at the University of Minnesota in 1904. The founders felt that some means of developing high standards of professional interest among student engineers were needed, and that an organization which could accomplish this and also unite students in the various fields of engineering with strong bonds of fraternal friendship would be of immense value to both the students and the engineering profession. The wisdom of these men has become increasingly apparent by the continual growth of the fraternity until it is now the largest engineering fraternity in the country.

The George Washington University Student Branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers is open to students in electrical engineering who are taking the communications option, or to those who are primarily interested in electronics. The Branch was formed to bring together people interested in electronic and associated fields to supplement the course of instruction and to correlate the information presented in class. At the regular meeting lectures are given by men of prominence usually from the various government laboratories in the Washington area. Most of the speakers are experts in their field and prove to be extremely interesting. The George Washington University Branch is most fortunate in having such a large group of specialists available to speak on an almost unlimited range of subjects.

INSTITUTE OF RADIO ENGINEERS

Future radio technicians learn how to find failures in communication sets during a lab period.

At the 22nd Annual Engineers' Ball, the queen was crowned. Lovely Joan Gallagher accepts a bouquet of roses from Jerry and Jimma Strong of radio station WMAL. Other finalists were Marilyn Kettler, Ava Hutchison, and Louise McDavitt.

Professor Cruikshanks explains the workings of a gasoline engine to one of his mechanical engineering classes.

Engineers' corner of the Student Union can be found occupied by hard-working students at all hours of the day. Problems are worked, homework completed, and notes compared during a fast cup of coffee.

THE CRIME

"Do you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth?"

"I do."

"Your name?"

"Joan P. Harmless, sir."

"Occupation?"

"Student at G. W."

"Where were you on the afternoon of April 5th?"

"At school, sir."

"Did you go to class that afternoon?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where were those classes held?"

"In the Hall of Government."

"Miss Harmless, how do you plead to the crime with which you are charged?"

"Not guilty."

"Ladies and gentlemen of the jury; I ask you to consider not only the crime, but the defendant before you. There she sits, confident in the knowledge that she is pulling the wool over your eyes. I ask you, ladies and gentlemen, to look at this girl who sits there and makes a bald-faced statement that she is not guilty. Not only is this contempt for the integrity of the court, but an insult to our intelligence.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the jury; the prosecution maintains that on the afternoon of April 5th in the Hall of Government, Miss Harmless, in violation of D. C. Ordinance 37952169, did smoke in a classroom."

LAW SCHOOL

The George Washington University Law School, now in its 87th year, is the oldest law school in the District of Columbia. It is a charter member of the Association of American Law Schools, and is approved by the Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar of the American Bar Association. The location of the Law School in the nation's capital presents a unique opportunity for observation and study of federal agencies. As a result, the study of law takes on added meaning. At the present time, holders of baccalaureate degrees from more than three hundred colleges and universities come from the forty-eight states, the territories, and several foreign countries to comprise the student body.

STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION

The Student Bar Association, a charter member of the American Law Student Association, includes in its membership every student in the Law School. The primary aims of the association are the promotion of professional and social activities among the Law School student body, the recognition and encouragement of scholastic achievements, and the maintenance of the high reputation of the Law School. The professional functions of the Student Bar Association include outstanding lawyers and jurists as speakers. Prominent among the social activities of the Law School are the annual dances held in the fall and spring. Officers of the Student Bar Association are elected each spring to serve the following academic year, and are assisted by class delegates representing both day and evening classes. Noteworthy among the committees of the association is the Placement Committee, which assists in placing students and young lawyers in legal positions on a nationwide basis.

CASE CLUB

The Van Vleck Case Club is an extra-curricular organization whose purpose is to give law students an opportunity to prepare written briefs and present oral argument on actual appellate cases. Four members are assigned to each case, two representing the appellant and two the appellee. The cases are argued before a simulated modern appellate court. Factors upon which the cases are decided are style and presentation of the arguments in the written briefs, clearness and manner of presentation of oral arguments, ability to respond to searching questions by the court, and persuasiveness of the points of law presented. The competition consists of preliminaries, semi-finals and finals. The court for the finals consists of notable federal judges, including justices of the Supreme Court.

Courtroom procedure is practiced by the Case Club. Well-known judges and lawyers often come in and lend their professional assistance.

Much exacting work goes into the publishing of the Law Review. Accuracy is of prime importance. The editor and his assistants are shown giving the final check to some articles.

GEORGE WASHINGTON LAW REVIEW

The George Washington Law Review is a bi-monthly publication edited by the faculty and students of the Law School. The editorial staff of the publication consists of a faculty editor-in-chief, an associate faculty editor, a faculty board of advisory editors, a board of departmental advisory editors, and a board of student editors who are chosen each year on the basis of scholarship. The publication is devoted exclusively to federal and state public law, and consists of articles on current legal problems by prominent authorities in the field of public law, as well as commentaries by students on recent decisions in the federal and state courts. The Law Review has become well-known throughout the law schools and the legal profession for its full and accurate coverage and evaluation of current trends in public law, and is frequently cited in connection with its presentation of recent legal developments and interpretations.

AMICUS CURIAE

Amicus Curiae, published by the Student Bar Association, is a professional newspaper for the George Washington University Law School, and first appeared in the spring of 1952. The staff of the publication is composed exclusively of law students. The purposes of the newspaper are to supplement the legal education of the law students, and to furnish information concerning the activities of the Law School organizations. Amicus Curiae is published in cooperation with the faculty of the Law School, with individual faculty members contributing one or more articles to each issue, which are of timely and particular interest to the law student. The George Washington Law Association sponsors one issue of the publication each academic school year, which is sent to all alumni of the Law School, numbering more than six thousand. Amicus Curiae is published four times each semester and is made available to all law students.

Donn Cassity, editor of Amicus Curiae, shows his editorial assistants how he wants the next edition to look.

After the regular meeting, the officers get together to discuss plans for future occasions.

NU BETA EPSILON

Nu Beta Epsilon, a national law fraternity which is non-sectarian in nature, was founded at the University of Maryland law school in 1918, and since that date has grown to a place of prominence among legal fraternities. Gamma Chapter was established at the George Washington University in 1929. Although social functions of the organization include banquets, parties, dances and picnics, stress is placed on meetings of a professional nature in order to further the legal education of the members. The professional meetings are bilateral in nature in that programs featuring outstanding jurists, lawyers and authorities from the field of public administration are balanced with informal meetings with professors from the Law School. Among the prominent members of Nu Beta Epsilon are the Honorable David Bazelon of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, and Elder Statesman Bernard Baruch, recent recipient of the Humanitarian Award bestowed by the National Fraternity.

PHI DELTA PHI

Phi Delta Phi, the oldest legal fraternity as well as the oldest professional fraternity in the United States, was founded in 1869, with the local chapter, John Marshall Inn, being established in 1884. At the present time, the fraternity is composed of 72 chapters, or Inns, some in foreign countries, and 52 alumni chapters, called Barrister Inns, with a total membership of more than 65,000. The purpose of the fraternity is to advance high scholarship, encourage high professional ethics, and promote brotherhood and friendship among the legal profession. Annual functions consist of a summer picnic, a formal dinner dance, and a joint banquet each spring with Scott Inn of Georgetown University. Phi Delta Phi is proud of its members who have made outstanding contributions to the legal profession and in the public service, including Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft, Charles Evans Hughes, Harlan Fiske Stone, and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The officers of Phi Delta Phi prepare for a meeting: G. W. Hammer (clerk), J. M. Turner (historian), Nad A. Peterson (Magister), and E. Johnson (exchequer).

PHI ALPHA DELTA

Phi Alpha Delta, a legal fraternity, was founded in Chicago in 1902 as a result of a legal controversy for its founders had banded together and successfully reduced the clerkship requirement for admission to the Illinois bar. Since that date, the fraternity has grown to nearly 100 chapters, with John Jay Chapter being established at the George Washington University in 1924. Annual social functions of the local chapter include dinner dances, picnics, monthly luncheons, and luncheons and professional meetings with the alumni chapter. Among the speakers presented at professional meetings were Judge Prettyman of the U. S. District Court of Appeals and Judge Myers of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia. Among the members of Phi Alpha Delta to attain prominence in the fields of law and public service are Supreme Court Justices Clark, Douglas and Minton; Vice-President Nixon; President Truman, and Dean Robert G. Storey, president of the American Bar Association.

*First row: L. V. Dix, E. Bellinger, F. W. Raring (clerk), B. Goodson (Justice), G. Cade (v-Justice), E. Dunn, J. Bear, W. Dickson. Second row: R. G. Erdley, E. G. Fenwick, W. G. Gapcynski, A. ## GAMMA ETA GAMMA

Gamma Eta Gamma, the second oldest professional legal fraternity, is unique in that it is as closely associated with its alumni as with the school. The purpose of the organization is to build a democratic fraternal union among a selected group of law students. At professional meetings, prominent attorneys speak on legal problems within their own particular fields of law, while social functions include a fall alumni dance, spring picnics, and a Founder's Day Banquet.

Phi Delta Delta is a women's legal fraternity whose members are law school students chosen on the basis of scholarship and character. The purpose of the fraternity is to promote closer understanding between women in the Law School and those actively engaged in the legal profession. The George Washington University chapter of Phi Delta Delta was founded in 1918, and is now complemented by chapters at American University, Columbus, National University, and a local alumnae chapter.

THE REVUE

The company stood and waited, fidgeting . . .

"Hurry up and wait, hurry up and wait, all the time," muttered a private.

"Pipe down," the corporal said. "You signed up for it, didn't you?"

"Yeah, but not for this. I wanted to fly, not march!"

"When is this thing gonna start? It's getting hot!"

"And I put on a fresh shirt—It's soaking wet."

"Shine your shoes, polish your brass, press your uniform . . . and for what?—This!"

The minutes passed, and the men grew more restless.

"How long do we have to wait? I'm gonna melt down to nothing!"

"You'd never know that this was a fresh uniform."

"My feet are killing me already. This marching is for the birds."

Suddenly the muttering ceased, and the men stood at attention.

"Forward—March!"

Two hours later . . .

"Oh, my feet!"

"Yeah, but did you see the Colonel?"

"Boy, you should have seen his face. We must have looked good."

"I heard him tell the major that we looked pretty sharp out there."

"Even the uniforms didn't look half-bad."

"Oh, the heat wasn't so bad after we got going."

"Think there'll be many promotions this year?"

"I bet there will."

"Boy, this is the life, isn't it?"

The A.F.R.O.T.C. Rifle Team, under the guidance of M/Sgt. Gleason, is one of the several activities open to Air Force Cadets.

A.F.R.O.T.C.

To prepare men for responsible positions as commissioned officers in the Regular Air Force, the Air National Guard, or the Air Force Reserve, this is the purpose of the A.F.R.O.T.C. To accomplish this purpose the Freshmen and Sophomores in the basic course attend two hours of classroom work a week in which they study such courses as Personnel Management, Weather, Navigation, World Political Geography, Air Operations, Aerodynamics, and Career Development. In the advanced course, for Juniors and Seniors, there are four hours of classroom work a week. A number of specialized options may be taken such as Administration and Logistics, Comptrollership, Communications, and Flight Operations. Advanced students may choose these various courses depending on their major field of study in the University. All Cadets have a drill period each week.

The detachment now in its second year at George Washington, has grown to about two hundred Cadets. Among these are fifteen members of the advanced course which was started in the fall. These fifteen men will go to camp this summer at some Air Force base where they will be familiarized with actual Air Force operations. They will receive pay of about $112.00 and a travel allowance. Next year these men will enter the fourth year of Air Science and a year later will receive their commissions.

The unit has gotten off to a fine start for one so young. In the spring of 1952 it won the competition in the Cherry Blossom Parade. The Group was invited to participate in the Inaugural Parade for President Eisenhower, and led the A.F.R.O.T.C. detachments from the Washington area.

Cadets Matthews and Detwiler take advantage of Link Trainer instruction to learn the fundamentals of flying under a variety of simulated conditions.

C FLIGHT. First row: H. Shimabukuro, C. Schmutz, R. Bullock. Second row: H. Jensen, D. Phillips, M. Boteler, C. Payne, H. Valdiserri, M. Miller, F. Porton, R. Reid, J. Moy. Third row: K. Romney, N. Danz, J. Pulver, H. Seabrooke, J. Larkin, J. Cunningham, E. Kirchner, J. Hill, B. Sturm, J. Molitoriss. Fourth row: J. Peake, Q. Clark, A. Roslyn, J. Duncan, F. Kovacs, C. Spencer, J. Thompson, J. Wagner. Fifth row: E. Keen, J. Holup, H. Frushtick, F. Morrisson, O. Hinshaw, J. Vaile, W. Meade, D. Weihe.

These Cadets are getting ready for take-off on one of the local flights in which selected students are familiarized with aircraft operation.

At the beginning of the Spring Semester the new Cadet Staff took over the direction of operations and training for the Group. This staff is the counterpart of a regular staff except that its plans are subject to the approval of the P.A.S.&T. before being put into effect. This provides actual experience in managing an Air Force unit. A national honorary society for advanced A.F.R.O.T.C. Cadets, the Arnold Air Society, was activated in the fall with fourteen charter members. Several more were pledged in the Spring Semester. This society is dedicated to furtherance of the mission of the A.F.R.O.T.C. and will become one of the hubs of Cadet activities. Also begun was a chapter of the Pershing Rifles, an honorary for basic R.O.T.C. students. A sponsor group made up of eighteen co-eds was organized to boost the Group's morale.

D FLIGHT. First row: B. Ong, J. Daly, J. Parsons. Second row: W. Parry, K. Duggin, Q. Elson, K. Avellar, T. Leonard, P. Ovalle, C. Catoe, H. Megill, R. Smith. Third row: H. Offterdinger, D. Barr, D. Fifth row: R. Gaspari, H. Gildonhorn, A. Bailey, L. Watwood, W. Russell, E. Darcey, A. Courtney, L. Ciemniecki, W. Rinick.

Cadet Hinrichs explains the correct method for plotting long range flights on the transparent globe to Cadets Parsons and Abel.

One of the many activities made available for the Cadets is flight instruction in the Link Trainer, located in Chapin Hall. All advanced, and selected second year basic Cadets, are given the opportunity to go on trips and local flights from Bolling Air Force Base with members of the instructing staff. In order that they may become familiar with the operation of aircraft they are allowed to fly the planes under the watchful eyes of one of the pilots. Cadets are also eligible for membership in the Rifle Team and the A.F.R.O.T.C. Band. For those who can qualify there is the Honor Flight, a crack drill team to which many of the outstanding Cadets belong.

THE DISPUTE

"I think it would set a bad precedent," said the well-shod feet.

"What's more," said the feet in the casual college loafers, "it would be very expensive."

"Well, I don't agree," said the trim ankles in high heels.

"It makes a lot of difference."

"What difference?"

"Well, it affects the whole atmosphere of the thing."

"But think of the expense!"

"Yes, but isn't it worth it to make it a success?"

"Well, I can't see that it makes all that difference."

"Besides," broke in the well-shod feet, "if you include it, no one will come, and then where will you be?"

"Why won't they come?" asked the trim ankles.

"Because they've been asked to this thing. Why should they have to pay for it?"

"But it's the only thing that they do have to pay for."

"Yes, but it's the principle of the thing. We never expect you to furnish anything when the situation is reversed."

"Well, that's different."

"How so?"

"Excuse me," interrupted the feet in the casual college loafers,

"I think we ought to vote."

"But . . ." protested the trim ankles.

"All in favor? . . . Opposed? . . . The motion to have no flowers at the Panhel Prom is passed."

Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities

Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities is an annual publication which gives recognition to outstanding students in more than six hundred institutions throughout the country. Students are selected on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership in extracurricular activities, and potential usefulness to business and society. This year's edition contains the names of thirty-two George Washington University students. They are chosen by a committee of students and faculty for being those students most qualified to have bestowed on them this national honor.

Names of those selected are announced in the HATCHET and are presented with certificates at the annual May Day Awards Assembly.

MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board is the national senior women's honorary whose members are selected on the basis of scholarship and leadership qualities in University activities. New members, tapped at the May Day Awards Assembly, celebrated with an Initiation Luncheon at the Tally-Ho Restaurant. Then came the summer and the long hours spent canvassing the neighborhood for ads for the CHERRY TREE. Fall brought freshman orientation, and the registration information booth. Tapping for Tassels, a sophomore honorary sponsored by Mortar Board, took place at a Big Sis Tea. Then came the annual Smarty Party in December, a get-together honoring Junior and Senior women with a 3.0 average or better. An outstanding event on the Mortar Board calendar is the tapping of the Outstanding Sophomore Woman in May.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Members of Omicron Delta Kappa are tapped at the Homecoming Dance and the Sing—men who are outstanding leaders in the fields of scholarship, social and religious activities, athletics, publications, music, debate and dramatics. Members of ODK must also be in the upper third of their class.

A recent accomplishment is the adoption of a new method of selecting student membership to insure a better distribution and representation in the organization. Faculty members, too, are initiated into the Alpha Delta circle, with a resultant increase in student-faculty cooperation and understanding. ODK truly represents all phases of collegiate life.

Student officers of ODK make plans for the coming initiation of new members.

DELPHI

Delphi is a service organization which gives recognition to sorority women who have made an outstanding contribution to their respective organizations. Members are nominated by their own sorority and then elected by Delphi from these nominations. This year has found Delphi members sponsoring inter-sorority open houses—a chance for sorority girls to get to know each other and to appreciate each other. One group makes dinner and acts as host, while the other brings dessert. These get-togethers have done much to increase inter-sorority cooperation and friendship.

GATE AND KEY

Members of the honorary Gate and Key are those fraternity men who have made an exceptional contribution to their particular organization, and to the fraternity system as a whole. They are nominated by Gate and Key and are tapped at the I.F.C. Prom in the Spring. Gate and Key was founded at the George Washington University and is rapidly spreading to other campuses, such as the chapter at Maryland University and the plans for chapters at Penn State and William and Mary. It is especially noted for its good parties and its annual award of the Order of the Lacy Garter. Besides the social end, however, there is the deep-rooted aim of every member to maintain the ideals of fraternity life, and to work for the betterment of the system.

New members of Gate and Key are announced at the Homecoming Dance by Bob Bloch.

Members of Pi Delta Epsilon put their journalistic minds to work on looking over the CHERRY TREE layouts.

PI DELTA EPSILON

Pi Delta Epsilon is the national honorary fraternity for outstanding collegiate journalists. Members are selected for their exceptional contributions to campus publications. A recent event was the celebration of the organization's thirtieth year on The George Washington University campus, highlighted by a big Anniversary Banquet. Activities of Pi Delta Epsilon have included the sponsoring of a journalism conference for high school students, the presentation of an award to the school's outstanding journalist, giving a party for the staffs of all campus publications, and the sponsoring of the Journalism and Public Relations forum of the annual Career Conference. Members of Pi Delta Epsilon have as their goal the improvement of campus publications and the maintenance of journalistic ideals.

ALPHA PI EPSILON

Alpha Pi Epsilon is a Home Economics honorary whose members must have a 2.5 overall average and a 3.0 average in Home Economics. Meetings are highlighted by informative talks on various aspects of the field. Martha Tsongas Sesmenides, a nutritionist in FAO, was the speaker at the Initiation Banquet. The Founders' Day Banquet in January was honored by the presence of Laura Schoenborn, chief nutritionist in the Nutrition Section in the Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency. Alpha Pi Epsilon also participates in many programs in conjunction with the Home Economics Club. They entertained foreign students on UN Day, and presented programs on Christmas decorations, parliamentary law, and life in Siam.

Working together on a sewing project are: A. Breuing, A. Gordon, and M. Saunders.

TASSELS

Tassels, a service organization, is the Sophomore women's honorary. In the Spring, Tassels compiled a report on service projects which are needed and can be done by organizations on campus. Fall brought a new Tassels group and a series of apple-polishing teas for professors in each department of the University. Tassels also made and sold sandwiches in the dorm on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Pi Lamda Theta is the national education honorary for women at The George Washington University. Election to this organization means scholastic recognition for both graduate and undergraduate students. The organization has many varied programs during the school year, based upon the purpose of fostering professional spirit and maintaining the highest standards of scholarship and professional preparation. Members also strive to further the cause of democratic education.

PHI DELTA GAMMA

Phi Delta Gamma has two major purposes: to promote the highest professional ideals among women of the graduate schools; and to advance the social welfare and activities of these women. Women of the graduate schools and faculty members were entertained by Beta Chapter at two teas held in Woodhull House on November 13-14, 1952. "World Freedom—Its Implications and Concomitants" is the theme for a series of program meetings planned this year for members of the fraternity.

To be eligible for membership in Alpha Theta Nu, a student must hold or once have held a scholarship from the University. Besides being a meeting ground for the University's scholarship holders, Alpha Theta Nu is a service organization that can be called upon for various types of work. Routine jobs for members are ushering at Lisner events, action as hosts to high school students, and helping at booths during registration.

PSI CHI

Psi Chi is an honorary and professional fraternity for psychology students. In order to be eligible for membership, one must be a psychology student with a 3.5 average or better. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest in psychology and to increase participation in research in the field. Psi Chi gives financial and personal aid to those working on psychological projects.

In the spring of 1950 an Honorary Botany Club was organized at the George Washington University, which the following fall was accepted as Delta Chapter of Phi Epsilon Phi, the National Honorary Botany Fraternity.

The purpose of the organization is to encourage professional spirit in its members by fostering high scholastic attainments during the period of preparation and by inciting interest in botanical research.

THE TICKET

A wailing siren and the screech of brakes . . .

"Pull over, buddy."

"Let's see your license . . . registration . . . ownership. . . All right, what's your excuse?"

"Well, sir, I'm late . . ."

"Late, huh? That's what I hear all the time. Do you realize you can kill somebody driving that fast?"

"Yes, sir, but you don't understand. I'm late to . . ."

"Yeah, I know. I suppose your wife is having a baby. Got any back parking tickets?"

"Oh, No, sir."

"Hmph. You kids are all the same. Where do you go to school?"

"G. W."

"And you have no back parking tickets?"

"No, sir! You see, I was trying to explain, sir. I go to G. W. and I have an 8:45 class, and . . ."

"I suppose you have a prof who says that if you're late, you might as well not come to class, and you're late now . . ."

"Why, yes, officer, that's it . . ."

"Well, isn't that too bad," he barked, handing him a ticket. As he pulled away, he turned and shouted, "And you'd better pay this one."

STUDENT COUNCIL

At the same time that the new Student Council was elected, G. W. Students passed the referendum which changed the constitution and thereby altered the structure of the Council. Added to the regular officers was a group of eight representatives, one from each of the divisions of the University.

The new expanded Council got off to a flying start with the summer Carnival. Then came the Fall and a bang-up Freshman Orientation program which greatly surpassed orientation programs of previous years. In quick succession came Homecoming and the Career Conference. Throughout the year the Council sponsored the Colonial Program Series and the new schedule of social dances run by the representatives of the schools.

This has been a trial year for the new Council. Not only were members working under a new and untried constitution, but had the additional experiment of a large and expanded Council. The members can well be proud of their accomplishments.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

The Panhellenic Council of the George Washington University is an administrative group composed of the president and one delegate from each of the sororities on campus. The Council aims at cooperation among the sororities, and endeavors to promote spirit for all inter-sorority functions. These functions include the Panhel Sing and Prom, the award to the Senior woman with the highest scholastic average, and the organizing of a Junior Panhellenic Council for Pledges. Panhel awards at the sing, a cup to the chapter with the highest scholastic average, and also one to the pledge class with the highest average. One of the Council's main functions, of course, is the establishment of regulations for rushing.

First row: Miss Kirkbride, C. Striker (sec.), B. Benner (pres.), S. Coultrap (v.p.), D. Drake (treas.), V. Rodgers (soc. chrmn.). Second row: J. Gallagher, B. Ormsby, B. Elam, C. Horsley, A. ## JUNIOR PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

Junior Panhel, a pint-sized version of the Panhellenic Council, has as its main function the organizing of the pledge Goat Show, held in December. This year admission was $.25 and a can of food for Jim Gibbons' Country Store.

Members are elected by their respective pledge classes, and report back to their classes all Junior Panhel proceedings. Their advisor is the vice-president of the Panhellenic Council.

The Intersorority Athletic Board consists of one representative from each of the sororities on the G. W. campus. The organization works for the betterment of intersorority cooperation in girl's sports. Those sports which they sponsor include ping-pong, swimming, tennis, bridge, badminton, bowling, volley ball, basketball, and golf. Cups are awarded for each sport, and a large rotating cup is awarded to the sorority which wins or places in the greatest number of contests.

INTERSORORITY ATHLETIC BOARD

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council of The George Washington University is composed of one representative from each of the fraternities on campus. The purpose of the Council is to be an administrative body for interfraternity activities. Some of its main jobs are to establish rules for rushing and to sponsor the Fraternity Sing and Prom.

The Interfraternity Council has as one of its goals the promotion of cooperation and friendship among fraternities. This goal is translated into action during Greek Week, a week in which each fraternity takes turns in holding Open House for all the other Greeks on campus. Other activities of the Council include the organization of athletic and debating events, and participation in the National IFC Conference. In all these things, the Council strives to maintain the ideals of the fraternity system.

Seated: J. Awtry, G. Latimer (treas.), T. Grady (pres.), J. Lytle (v.p.), R. Buzzell (sec.), T. McEnroe (soc. chrmn.). Standing: K. Aveller, J. Jernigan, R. Riecken, D. Butler, F. Steadman, D. Johnson, D. Wolansky, C. Fuchs, R. Goldstein.

INTERFRATERNITY PLEDGE COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Pledge Council is the pledge version of the Interfraternity Council, and equivalent to the Junior Panhellenic Council. Although its purpose is the promotion of friendship and cooperation among campus fraternities, its main efforts go into making the all-sorority, all-fraternity pledge dance a success. I.F.P.C. and the Junior Panhellenic Council work together to organize the dance. It is things like this that promote school spirit.

The Interfraternity Athletic Council is a group of representatives, one from each of the fraternities on campus. Its purpose is to handle democratically all matters concerning interfraternity athletics. Members set up regulations for all interfraternity sports events, and settle all disputes impartially basing their decision not on the fraternities involved, but on the merits of the case.

WRA officers display some of the trophies awarded annually to outstanding women athletes.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

The purposes of the Women's Recreation Association are to create and to sponsor an active interest in recreational participation at the University, to provide a varied program of recreational activities by which the desires and interests of the largest number of women students may be realized, to make the campus aware of the best standards of recreation, and to promote recreational leadership.

This year WRA held its annual tea for new students at which freshmen and transfer students were introduced to the program that WRA had planned for the year. This program consisted of golf and tennis tournaments held within the University and also with other schools, and inter-scholastic games of basketball, badminton and other sports which contributed to Class spirit.

RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

The Religious Council is the coordinating body for religious activities on campus. The Council is composed of two delegates from the following groups: Baptist Student Union, Canterbury Club (Episcopal), Christian Science Organization, Hillel Foundation (Jewish), Lutheran Student Association, Newman Club (Roman Catholic), Student Christian Fellowship, Wesley Foundation (Methodist), and Westminster Foundation (Presbyterian).

During Orientation Week in the Fall, the Council sponsors the annual reception for new students, an opportunity to meet religious advisors and members of the various clubs. In March the annual Religion-in-Life Week Conference is held with outstanding speakers and panels.

Dr. Laurence D. Folkemer is the Executive Officer of the Department of Religion and Director of Religious Activities.

THE REPORT

"Is the chairman of the committee ready with his report?"

"I am."

"Proceed."

"The enigma with which we were subtended was the unalloyed, intrinsic verity that the academicians were dying with ennui over the syncopated cacophony being executed in the collegians syndicate. We therefore proceeded to the sanctum sanctorum of the grand vizier of the phrontistery, where we were apprized of the actuality that we would have to forge ahead to the aedile of said syndicate. There we were advised that it was an intellectual pabulum concerning the diorism and perspicacity of said academicians. It was the sentience of the aedile that the collegians desiderate the present cacophony, and therefore no permutation is anticipated."

"Any questions?"

THE HATCHET

Tuesday afternoon when students are poring over the news of the past week, members of the Hatchet staff are beginning work on next week's paper. Assignments are given out, editorials are decided upon, and work begins. On Saturday and Sunday afternoons the giant job of putting the paper together takes place. Late Sunday evening harassed Hatcheteers put the final touches on the paper, and the following night finds the editors reading copy and checking proofs and galleys to achieve that final precise organization for which the Hatchet is noted.

Coverage of the activities of a large University is a prodigious assignment, even when handled by a large staff. Week after week, however, the Hatchet comes through with accurate, detailed coverage of both University events and campus chatter.

THE CHERRY TREE

Production on the 1953 CHERRY TREE was slow in getting under way. Editors hopefully organized staffs and started making assignments while keeping an anxious eye on the President's office for official word that the University could have an annual this year. Mortar Boards trudged the streets all summer getting ads to finance the book, while the circulation staff pushed advance sales, warning the students that unless six hundred books were sold by December 1st, there would be no yearbook. And then, suddenly the go-ahead was flashed and production moved into high gear. The office became a beehive of activity. Typewriters clacked, cameras clicked, and editors' tempers grew short. Day after day the typewriters pounded; the copy was written; the pictures were captioned. Then the final feverish days of activity, and suddenly all was quiet. The office was deserted. The 1953 CHERRY TREE had gone to press.

DANCE PRODUCTION GROUPS

The Dance Production Groups, along with the Student Council, innovated the popular Social Dance Program this year with great success, attested by the capacity crowds attending the always gaily decorated and lighted Student Union. Students were given the opportunity to learn any type of social dance they wished in several teaching sessions. Claudia Chapline and Steve Luke served as Student Directors of Social Dance.

The Folk and Square Dances in Building J proved as colorful and as exciting as ever.

The Modern Dance Concert, the Group's big event of the year, presented a well balanced repertory: "Carousel," "The American Girl," "Salem Witchcraft," "Military Ball," and "Studio Piece." For the first time the Concert played a three night run in Lisner Auditorium.

In April a dance concert for children was given at the special invitation of The Children's Theatre of Washington.

The Groups also participated in the musical comedy given in Lisner in April.

UNIVERSITY DRAMATIC ACTIVITIES

For years the dramatic activities of the University became fewer and fewer until finally, they had dwindled down to nothing. Then, for the first time this year, there was created the University Dramatic Activities, with Mr. William Callahan as Managing Director. The first thing he did, in order to stimulate interest in dramatic activities, was to establish it on a community-university basis, with 60% of the actors and technicians coming from the student body and 40% from the community.

The first production, given in December, was Thornton Wilder's comedy, "The Merchant of Yonkers." Then in February came Joseph Matthews' melodrama, "The Scapegoat," based on Franz Kafka's novel, "The Trial."

Mr. Callahan's faith in the University's desire for dramatic activities has apparently been well justified. His work has met with tremendous success.

HOMEcoming COMMITTEE

The work of the Homecoming Committee began in June, when the Student Council appointed Nell Weaver and Bob Buzzell as co-chairmen. The first job was to appoint a competent committee. Then arrangements were made with the National Guard Armory for the dance, and with Jack Morton for the orchestra. All during the summer the committee mimeographed and sent out letters concerning the queen candidates and the Mummer's Parade. Tickets were printed and made ready for distribution. With the Fall came increased activity and the pressure of the approaching week-end. The committee met once or more every week to coordinate activities and to make sure that no aspect of the job was being neglected. Soon the efforts of the entire committee were directed at publicizing the Homecoming events. Finally, the big week-end . . . and the months of careful planning bore fruit, as GW had one of its most successful Homecoming week-ends.

GLEE

The members of the Glee Club sing not only for their own pleasure, but for the entertainment of others. This year they contributed to the Christmas festivities by singing at the Christmas tree lighting. They also put on their annual performance of the "Messiah", along with the Army Air Force Band. The Traveling Troubadours, a small part of the Glee Club, gave performances at Quantico and the Anacostia Naval Air Station. The highlight of the Troubadour's year was the tour of the Northeast Air Command, taking in parts of Greenland, Labrador, and Newfoundland. They spent Christmas in Thule, the most northern air base of the U. S., 815 miles from the North Pole, and New Year's at McAndrews Field. Other stops were at Goose Bay, Pepperel, and every base at which weather permitted them to land.

COLONIAL BOOSTERS

The purpose of Colonial Boosters is to coordinate and direct school spirit. The Booster Board accomplishes this by organizing pep rallies, parades, cavalcades to the schools where we play "away" games, and half-time entertainment. This year GW students were entertained between the halves of football games by such things as a Mummer's Parade at the Homecoming game, the Air Force crack drill team, and a pint-sized kids' football game. The Board sold Booster books at the beginning of the school year which entitled the holders to two seats in the Booster section at every game. These seats made up the core of the cheering section, with shakers and balloons distributed to the people in the Booster seats. At the end of the year, Boosters awarded cups to the fraternity and sorority which had done the most to promote school spirit.

SAILING ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the Sailing Association is to promote better seamanship, greater appreciation for sailing as a recreation and a sport, and to engage in intercollegiate competition.

The club is a member of the Potomac River Sailing Association and the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association. Besides sailing here on the Potomac every week-end, members often take trips to other colleges to enter into competition. In their meetings they have lectures and films on the fine points of sailing. The club also has its social side. Many parties dot the social calendar of the sailing club members. Highlight of the year is the annual Frostbite Regatta with Maryland and Georgetown, followed by the Frostbite Ball. Competition is keen for the cup awarded to the winner of the regatta.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Home economics majors meet regularly to make use of the practical arts they have learned in class. They hold bake sales, membership teas, and a Christmas Party each year. This year the members have heard many speakers on different aspects of home economics. At one meeting, the members heard a talk on old glassware by Mrs. Gilinas, who brought along a group of collectors' items of old glass. The Home Economics Club also presents programs in conjunction with Alpha Pi Epsilon. This year, Edith Turner gave a talk on how to make Christmas house decorations, a member of the Speech department spoke on parliamentary law, and Mrs. Davies gave a talk on life and customs in Siam.

BIG SIS

Big Sis is an organization of women interested in helping new women students become adjusted to GW. During the summer, each Big Sis is given the names of several new students to contact and meet before school begins. On the night before registration, all the Big and Little Sisters meet at a Coffee Hour given in the Student Union. There new students are helped in filling out registration forms and making out their schedules. Big Sisters guide their Little Sisters through Registration and the first week of school. During that week, Little Sisters get a chance to talk to women prominent in activities at the Tips and Tea with Topnotchers. Here they get a chance to see what activities GW has to offer, as well as hints on what to do and how to get along at a large university.

STRONG HALL

Strong Hall Council is a governing body made up of one girl representing each floor of the dorm. The Council takes care of all complaints and enforces regulations, while at the same time plans the social activities in order to unify and make more home-like the atmosphere of the dorm. The Council organizes monthly teas for the girls, each one having a theme. Starting the year was a Welcoming Tea, followed by a Halloween Tea, a Thanksgiving Tea, and a Christmas Tea. The girls also held a Christmas party, at which all the girls came down at 10 p.m. in pajamas, carrying a toy. The toys were for the children at St John's orphanage on F Street.

ALPHA ZETA OMEGA

Alpha Zeta Omega is a national professional pharmaceutical fraternity made up of students and alumni. The Washington chapter has established a yearly scholarship in Pharmacy here at the University for an outstanding high school graduate of the District of Columbia. Other activities include the newspaper for pharmacists started by the Washington chapter with the help of the student branch, and interesting speakers at the regular business meetings. The fraternity also keeps itself informed on its members by forming social contacts with professional pharmacists. As the years go by, there is increased interest in this worthwhile organization.

KAPPA PSI

Kappa Psi is a professional pharmaceutical fraternity. Since its charter was granted in February 1950, Gamma Tau chapter has established an annual dinner-dance, a complete rush program, and a scholarship prize. An important part of its program are its professional lectures on various fields in pharmacy. A highlight of this program was a seminar on the pharmacist's responsibility in manufacturing pharmacy.

Sigma Alpha Eta provides an opportunity for speech correction majors to enrich their knowledge of the field outside the classroom. Each meeting this year has brought speakers on the subject of job opportunities in the field. Other activities include a Christmas party and the sponsoring of the Speech forum in the Career Conference. Sigma Alpha Eta was represented at the national convention at Detroit by its sponsor, Calvin Pettit.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club brings together Catholic students for a program of faith, facts, and fun. They meet every Tuesday, alternating business meetings with lectures. This year the emphasis in the lectures has been on Theology. The annual Campus Celebrity Capers, at which ten celebrities were honored, was held in the Spring. Summer brought a full schedule of beach parties and dances, and in the Fall the Newman Club initiated thirty-eight new members. Members held their traditional Christmas Party, and participated with other religious clubs on campus in planning and carrying out the Religion-in-Life Week. An outstanding event on the calendar was the Middle Atlantic Province Convention, at which members of all the Newman Clubs in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and D. C. participated.

HILLEL

Hillel, one of 200 Foundations at universities and colleges in the United States and abroad, provides Jewish students on campus with personal counselling, plus cultural, religious, and social services. Activities throughout the year include dances, parties, public affairs forums, films, lectures, charity drives, Sabbath and High Holiday services, coffee hours, discussion groups, and the annual "Ball of Fire". The common interests of these students make it a worthwhile and enjoyable group.

Alpha Chi Sigma is a professional chemical fraternity open to any male student who has completed one and a half years of chemistry, and has attained a 2.5 average or better. # COLUMBIAN WOMEN

Columbian Women, an organization which is more than fifty years old, includes any registered woman student with one year of college work, and any women faculty member of the University.

The Columbian Women have built up funds for scholarships and for scholarship students. These scholarships are awarded three times a year. Nearly three thousand dollars has been awarded this year. They also work on school projects to further the interests of the University.

The organization holds quarterly meetings, followed by a social hour at which members can become better acquainted. This year the Columbian Women have held luncheons honoring the different schools of the University. The Deans of the schools have been the speakers, and graduates have been honored guests.

The work of the Columbian Women this year has done much to further the interests of the University.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Future Teachers of America is a professional organization sponsored by the National Education Association to promote interest in the teaching profession and in general educational work. Once a month they hold programs such as movies on teaching in elementary schools, panel discussions on applying for a job, and talks by principals and teachers of the Washington area. This year was also highlighted by a bowling party and a picnic in Rock Creek Park.

FOOTBALL 1952

Last fall's George Washington University Colonials underwent a complete face-lifting, and with surprising results; even the season's record of 1951 was completely reversed. With Andy Davis and Coach "Bo" Rowland, GW's headline-makers of recent years, gone, no one knew quite what to expect. Rowland's right hand man, former line coach "Bo" Sherman, was elevated to the post of head coach, despite rumors that an outsider would be brought in. As such, he instituted (1) a new formation, the "split T", (2) a new coaching staff to make it work, and (3) a new spirit in the asphalt campus eleven.

In the first game the traveling team turned in an overwhelming 39-0 rout of North Carolina State at Raleigh, North Carolina. Returning home, the G-Streeters had a close shave, but finally edged Washington and Lee with a last quarter rally. In the third week, however, the Buff stepped into the big leagues and took their come-uppance from the University of Virginia, who seemed to do everything right. After this the team settled back to play consistently exciting, but not spectacular football, with few surprises. The accent shifted from the razzle-dazzle, racehorse offense of the freshmen to the strong, tough, experienced seniors' defensive team that showed the results of Sherman's patient coaching over the years. Offensively, the lack of a dependable T-quarterback proved to be a serious limitation, but Sherman always seemed to have one more in his hat.

Perhaps the outstanding performance of the season was a convincing rout of the strong Bucknell eleven, 21-7. This team was the biggest (by weight) beef trust in the East, and the win was a real credit to Coach Sherman and especially to our defensive line.

The outlook for next year is favorable, since most of the green offensive backs will return. They will no doubt miss the stout defenders who set up so many scores, but more may be on the way. The abandonment of platoon football by the NCAA may be an obstacle to a team that was just learning the system. The season's record of six wins against two losses and a tie at least indicates that George Washington is beginning to grow a team out from under the shadow of Andy Davis.

Coaches Bo Sherman and Howard Bowers leave the field after the sensational 39-0 rout of North Carolina State.

The boys on the bench look concerned: Barriera, Freas, Boland, Fox, Daly, Gaskell, Logan, and Gaspari watch the action at V.P.I.

Freshman scatback Len Ciemniecki displays his break-away running form at N. C. State. Tom Bosmans prepares to throw a block in the background.

On a punt return, Norb "Dutch" Danz tears through the sundered W & L line behind excellent blocking by Semkew, Daly, and Gaspari.

The bowl-hoping Cavaliers took GW to the cleaners with their worst defeat in four years. The split-T offense, so effective in the early games, met its masters in Art Guepe and his hard-charging backs; the Colonials netted only 63 yards all afternoon against 327 for Virginia. Sherman, in desperation, threw four quarterbacks into the fray, but none of them could stem the tide. Out of 17 passes thrown by the quartet, only six were completed, and four intercepted. It was indeed a gloomy day for the New Colonials, and sportswriters consigned them to their accustomed doormat role in the Southern Conference.

George Washington 39 North Carolina State 0

In the season's opener for both teams, the revitalized Colonials poured it on a hapless Wolfpack squad. The scoring parade was led by freshman back Lenny Ciemniecki, who scored twice, and senior halfback Bino Barriera. The big GW line completely bottled up the State offense, including highly touted scatback Webster. The defenders recovered three fumbles and blocked a punt to set up the scoring punch. Ray Fox, playing in his first game as a T-quarterback, turned in a surprisingly good performance with professional passing and ball handling. Fox's favorite target was speedy end Richie Gaskell.

George Washington 33 Washington & Lee 28

This time it took a second half comeback to put the local boys out in front. The General's flashy quarterback, Randy Broyles, put them on the long end of a 14-7 halftime score, and it looked as though the Colonials were a one-game sensation. After spotting the visitors one more TD in the third period, Ray Fox took command and engineered a thrilling comeback. Three quick scores came on an eighty-yard pass to Gaskell, a pitchout to Barriera, and a blocked punt recovered in the end zone by George Semkew. Washington & Lee made a final score as the clock ran out, but only after the game was in the local pocket. Again starring were the defensive giants Flyzik, England, Semkew, and company.

George Washington 6

Virginia Polytechnic 0

A much improved Virginia Tech team gave the Colonials a real fight in a game played at Blacksburg. It was a battle of two stout defensive lines all the way, with neither team able to move the ball. Early in the game Ray Fox, Dutch Danz, and Len Ciemniecki got together on a long drive capped by Bino Barriera's scoring slant. The remainder of the game was closely fought in the line, and Sherman's veterans showed the edge. In the fourth period the Gobblers threatened on a long-passing offensive, but England, Prach, and co-captain Bob Gutt stiffened the forward wall, with England recovering a fumble at the final gun.

Little Bino Barriera is all alone with the Virginia team in one of the few Colonial gains at Charlottesville.

Virginia Military 20

Homecoming ended on a disappointing note for the Buff and Blue supporters. George Chumbley ran a zig-zagging 46 yards to tie the contest up after some fans had left their seats to go home. With the accent on power running, GW had built up a seemingly safe 20-13 lead only to see it vanish in one unbelievable jaunt through the whole defensive team. Norb "Dutch" Danz, the sturdy sophomore fullback, picked up 181 yards in 18 attempts to lead the Shermanmen. Also outstanding was a long pass play from "Skinny" Saffer to Jack Daly which completely baffled the Keydets. The last three minutes saw both teams passing desperately to pull out a win, but time ran out with GW on the visitors' 43 yard line.

West Virginia 24

West Virginia's powerful Mountaineers, fresh from an upset victory over Pittsburgh, gave GW a really one-sided trouncing. Classy freshman Fred Wyant, led his team over the invaders, who could gain only 89 yards with the ball. The D. C. team's offense was ragged, the passing spotty, and the defense hampered by injuries. One Colonial at least shone; Steve Korcheck performed brilliantly in five offensive and defensive positions while 1000 spectators from his Pennsylvania home town cheered him on. The defeat buried George Washington in third place in the Southern Conference, with little hope of overtaking unbeaten Duke.

Speed demon Richie Gaskell sneaks behind the Virginia Tech defense to snare a long pass from Ray Fox.

Ray Fox sweeps wide against V.M.I. Also in on the play are Don Freas (36) and Skinny Saffer (10).

George Washington 21

Even in scoring three touchdowns, the Buff and Blue continued to rely on defense to upset Bucknell. The slam-bang split T of the first two games refused to move, but fortunately the brickwall seniors rose to the occasion. Prior to game time, Bucknell had won 19 of its last 20 games, placing them as two touchdown favorites. However, the highly touted "touchdown twins", Myers and Talmadge, found little room to display their wares. Early in the second stanza Jim England blocked a punt, which Bob Gutt took into the end zone for the tally. After the guests tied it up, Lou Donofrio intercepted a pass to set up one TD, and when Johnny Prach recovered a fumbled kickoff, Len Ciemniecki scored the clincher.

Bucknell 7

George Washington 40

The last home stand for the Colonials, and the final game for eleven seniors, was a complete victory with everyone getting into the act. Senior Jack Baumgartner, starting his first game at quarterback, put on a real exhibition for his hometown friends; his ball-handling and passing finally lived up to his advance notices of four years ago. Dutch Danz scored twice, and Baumgartner, Jack Daly, Don Greene, and Ciemniecki had one each. Local fans had their last glimpse of seniors Bob Gutt, Frank Continetti, Tom Flyzik, Cecil Perkins, Jim England, George Semkew, and Doonie Waldron, the defensive unit, as well as offensive seniors Baumgartner, Bino Barriera, and Paul Smith.

Davison 13

George Washington 29

Richmond 7

With their sixth and final victory the Colonials rounded out their best season since 1936, scoring easily against a weak Richmond eleven. Bino Barriera and Len Ciemniecki scored two apiece, and Cecil Perkins added a safety to Gasperi's three conversions. The Spiders heralded passer, Bobby Tyler, was frustrated all afternoon, finally passing for his team's only tally in the last quarter. Continuing his hard work at fullback, Norb Danz gained 147 yards in 19 sallies. Jack Baumgartner ended the season as firststring quarterback, leaving the wish that he could return for three more years.

Freshman Lou Donofrio intercepts a Bucknell pass to set up the tie-breaking tally. Running over to help is Bob Sturm (11).

Safety man Steve Korcheck totes the ball through the Davidson Squad.

This play was ruled interference on the one yard line, setting up one of the many scores against Davidson. The Colonial end is big Richie Gaskell.

BASKETBALL

Bill Reinhart fielded a basketball team which should rank with the finest in George Washington's history. The Colonial cagers were ranked 22nd in the country and second in the Conference by preseason polls, and from all indications will live up to these predictions. Coach Reinhart has emphasized a high-powered offense that has made the Colonials leading point-makers in the country.

The Buff bucketmen are sparked by the two high-scoring Holup brothers, junior John and freshman Joe, and by the smooth ball-handling of veterans Tex Silverman and Kenny Hirschfield. John broke the all-time individual scoring record with 30 points, only to see this mark eclipsed the next week by brother Joe's 33. Other records broken to date include the all-time points per game record (113 against Duke) and the all-time area record for points in one game by two teams (200 by GW and Duke together). If any records are still standing, the chances are this season will see them broken. Including, we hope, the record for games won.

CHEERLEADERS

The Cheerleaders, sponsored by the Office of Men's Activities, have had the pleasure of leading the student body in loud appreciation of the University's exceptionally fine football and basketball teams this year.

Whenever possible, the Cheering Squad has worked in Pep Rallies and on the special projects of the Colonial Boosters whose cheer cards and pom-poms have in turned helped the squad by increasing the show of spirit at the games. A cheer-writing contest co-sponsored by the two organizations is planned for the near future.

Practices in preparation for try-outs are held annually in April and the new squad is selected by a panel of judges composed of two members from the football team, the basketball team, and the Student Council, plus the newly elected Captain or Co-Captains of the squad.

SAILING

G.W.'s Sailing Team retained its national ranking for another year. Skippers John Dodge, Lorenz Schrenk, and Jim Merow teamed with crews Carlene Parker, Ada Lou Hains, Ann Sweeney, and Joan Feder to place high in all their regattas. The Buff finished its season among the top four teams in the Middle Atlantic Area. Journeying to Chicago, G.W. entered the Midwest Championship Regatta and sailed off with the runner-up trophy—only a few points behind the champion Purdue team. On the Anacostia, G.W.'s 6th Annual Frostbite Regatta brought the Fall Eastern Intercollegiate season to an end, and marked the third time that the Colonials had won the much coveted Marvin-Gorman-Byrd Trophy.

Kneeling: J. Updike, D. Monson, M. Spies, and J. Jones. Standing: R. Goldstein, W. Minkler, and J. Lane.

RIFLE CLUB

George Washington's rifle team, under the capable supervision of coach McMillen, has compiled one of the best records outside of service and military schools on the each coast. Matches are conducted both in person and through the mails—"postal" matches—with colleges and universities throughout the country. During last year's season the sharpshooters rang up a 4 won, 2 lost record in the mailorder contests and a 2 won, 3 lost tally in shoulder-to-shoulder competition. In group matches, the Colonials posted two first places and one third; and in the Intercollegiate Championships, they were twenty-second in standing, out of 106 entrants.

This year's schedule includes such teams as Johns Hopkins, University of Minnesota, Virginia Tech, University of California, University of Wyoming, Indiana, The U. S. Military Academy, Georgetown, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Maryland, University of Washington, and Virginia Military Academy.

Delta Tau Delta won the intramural football championship for 1952-3. Kneeling: Bud Watwood, Jim Pflaging, Lorenz Schrenck, Greg Blackburn, and Jerry Kryshalsky. Standing: Fred Warder, Jay Howard, Sandy Schlemmer, Bill Evans, and Chuck Clark.

The Intramural Sports Program at GW was set up to provide an opportunity for all students to engage in some form of athletics. To participate in intramurals, a student need not be a professional or a varsity athlete, but need only possess an honest desire toward sports recreation.

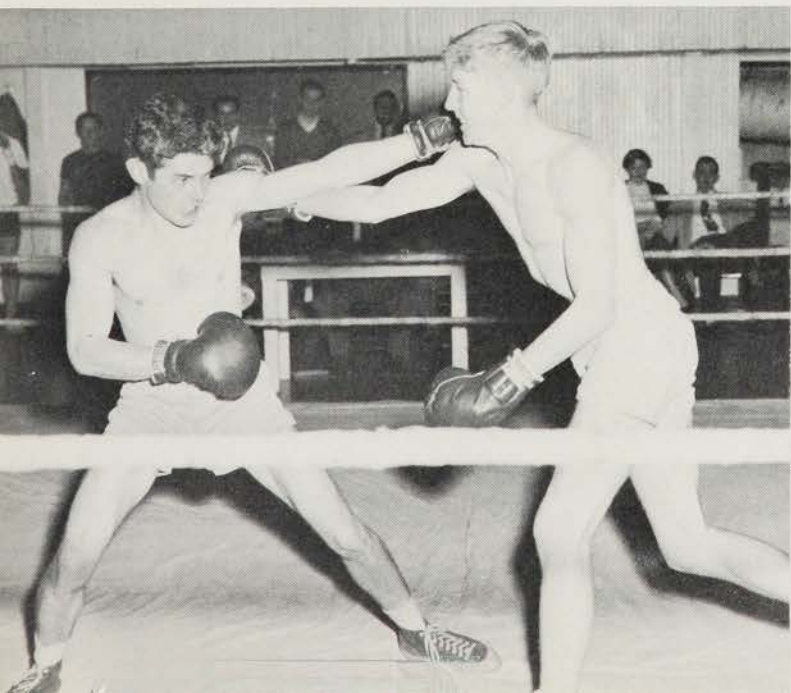

Joe Krupa, who handled the intramural program for the first half of the year, was promoted to executive officer of the Physical education department. His intramural job was assumed by assistant baseball coach Vinnie deAngelis. Student assistants Paul Cajigas and Interfraternity Sports Director Eddie Beale have given aid in the operation of the program.

Awards are made for all sports, and an intramural Trophy for total points is awarded every spring. Last year's cup went to Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, while Sandy Schlemmer of that organization took individual honors.

The objectives of the program are, briefly, to provide social contacts for the students; to develop group spirit, scholarship, and sportsmanship; and to promote better health in both mind and body.

Fred Warder (Delta Tau Delta) and Ord Alexander (Pi Kappa Alpha) exchange jabs in the intramural boxing matches.

Mike Rapport tees off for Sigma Chi's golf champs as competitors wait their turn. Rapport took individual honors with an amazing 78.

Intramural sailors practice off the Buzzard Point Boat Yard while waiting for the first race.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Alpha Epsilon Pi watch the jump at the start of their interfraternity basketball game.

Jay Howard, Delta Tau Delta, drops in a basket over the head of Norm West, Pi K A, in the 1952 interfraternity basketball championship game.

In the interfraternity championship game, Sandy Schlemmer sweeps wide around the Sigma Nu end for a long gain.

Badminton is a game well-suited to the agility of a coed. Reaching for the short bird requires a lot of fast foot-work to foil the opponent's point.

Archery and tennis are sports which most women enjoy because they can be played by both men and women all through life. Special buses take the students to the field and the courts. Besides class instruction, competition is available within the University and with other colleges.

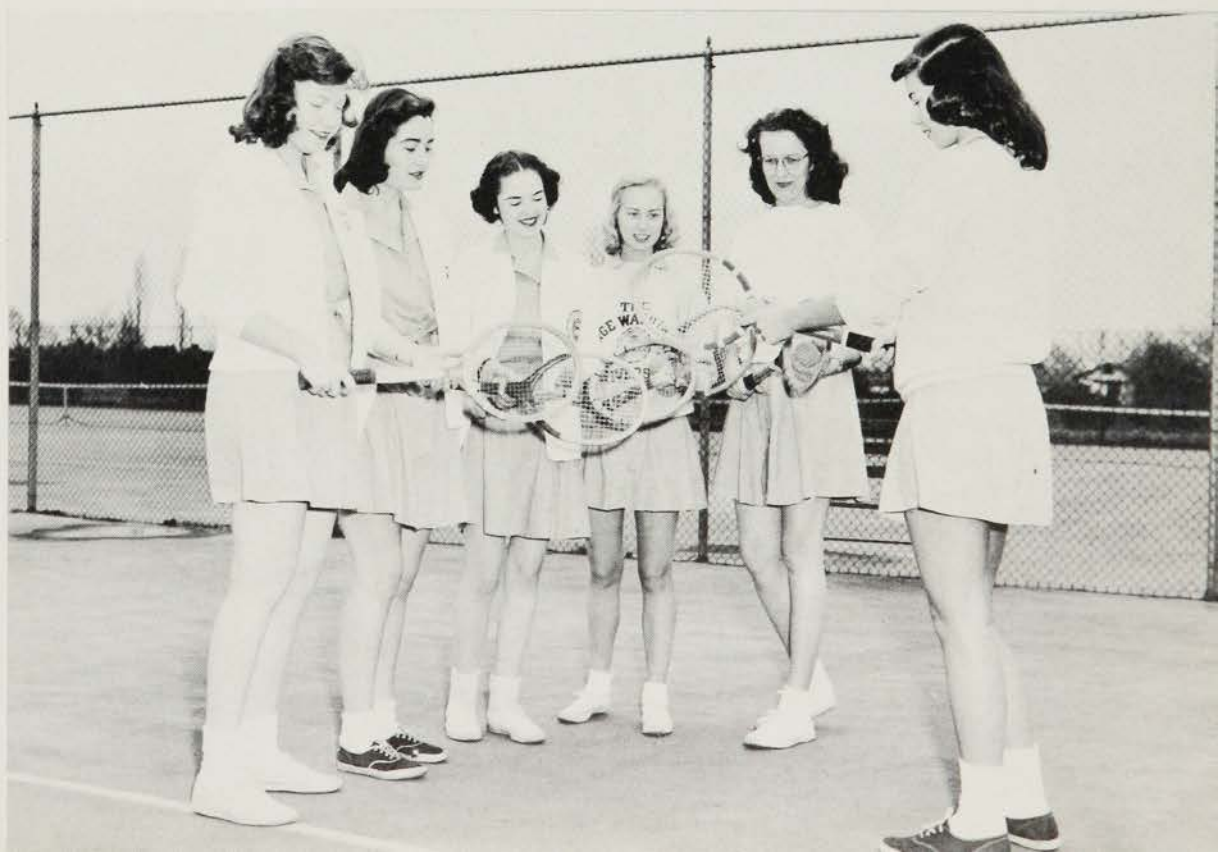

Hockey is one of the most invigorating and exciting of the team sports offered at the University. The girls become adept enough at the sport to play other college teams, such as those of Maryland University, American University, and Marjorie Webster. An honorary varsity team is chosen at the end of the season from the girls who have played especially well during the games.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Student assistant Abbie Oliver tees a golf ball while explaining the finer points of driving to her class. Golf classes take place on the driving range on Hains Point.

Braving the chilly Fall air, tennis classes are held at the East Potomac courts. Classmates check to see if their grip is correct before starting practice matches.

The Pi Beta Phi team adds up its score in the intersorority bowling tournament, a highly competitive and very popular event of the winter.

A favorite winter sport at GW is basketball, and the girls go in for it in a big way. The skills involved are taught to beginners, and emphasis is given to practice in conditioning and ball handling.

Badminton classes are held twice a week during the winter season. Beginners are given instruction while intermediate and advanced players demonstrate that practice makes perfect in this fast-moving sport. Competition in badminton for both men and women consists of doubles, mixed doubles and singles.

Basketball instruction is given during the winter season, with games held between the classes of the University and with outside schools. From the class teams are chosen the girls who play the interscholastic games, and from these the honorary varsity who comprise the best players at the University. The varsity as a team plays one game with the alumnae.

Golf is definitely not the businessman's sport at the George Washington University. It is one of the most popular sports with the women during the fall and spring seasons. Classes use the facilities at Hains Point, making use of the driving range, the putting green, and the golf course. Beginners and Intermediate tournaments for individuals, women's twosomes, and mixed twosomes are held.

Beginners get advice and encouragement from their instructor and team-mates on the fine points of driving. The driving range is convenient for learning and practice before the actual game.

Swimming is a popular activity in the girl's Spring athletic program. Olympic swimming star Mary Freeman demonstrates diving form to classmates Bobby Hanson, Deirdre Walz, and Pat Burke.

The followers of Annie Oakley practice on the indoor rifle range in Corcoran Hall. The girls' rifle team have run up an impressive record in intercollegiate competition.

THE POSE

"Now, stand over here, please . . . no, over here between the two lights . . . and back about a foot . . . just a little bit to your left . . . that's fine . . . now wait till I fix the lights . . . I believe this one is too bright; let's try a softer one . . . the boom light should be a little higher . . . that shadow is too deep; let's lighten it up . . . I think I'll try a different background . . . just hold still while I change it . . . this blue one looks a lot better . . . now, for the camera angle . . . I believe that from the right side is the best angle . . . and a little bit lower . . . that's fine . . . now, let's sharpen up our pose . . . slide your right foot a little forward . . . turn your left toe a bit toward the camera . . . shift your weight forward . . . whoops, that's too far, back a little . . . twist toward the camera from the waist . . . put your arms behind you . . . and tilt your head this way . . . moisten your lips . . . smile . . . hold it . . ."

THE NEW SHOES

"May I help you?" asked the well-shod, slightly weary feet.

"Yes, I'm looking for a pair of black pumps," said the well-turned ankles.

"Certainly. Won't you sit down? . . . Size 6½ . . . hmm . . . Any particular style?"

"Well, I'm not sure. Can I see what you've got in black?"

"Here's a pair of opera pumps . . . very popular style."

"No, they make my feet look too large."

"Well, how about a sling-back and open toe style?"

"No, I like a closed toe."

"Here's just the thing. It's a closed toe and sling-back."

"No, the strap will slip off my heel."

"What about an ankle-strap? This is a lovely shoe."

"No, I don't care for that. Don't you have anything else?"

"Nothing else in black. How about another color?"

"Well, I came in for a pair of black shoes . . . What have you got in blue?"

"I'll see . . .

"What about this?"

"No . . . "

"Then we have this . . . "

"They're all so ordinary. Don't you have anything that's different?"

Two hours and fifty pairs later . . .

"Don't you have anything else?"

"I'm sorry, Madam. You've seen everything except these green lizard . . . "

"Why, let me see them! Why didn't you bring them out before? I'll take them," said the well-turned ankles.

"Yes, madam," replied the well-shod, slightly weary feet.

THE BIG DANCE

Satin slippers and the soft rustle of silk . . . a whiff of perfume and velvety shoulders swathed in a film of net. She was a vision of loveliness, descending the staircase. A fur coat and gloves, the automatic good-byes. Then the purr of a motor and a brightly lit doorway. Eager faces, bright smiles. Cocktails and tinkling laughter. The couples drift out, two by two. Forty minutes late to the Big Dance. Soft lights and the faint strains of a waltz. Shining eyes and a ray of moonlight caught in her burnished hair. Dipping and gliding . . . oblivious to everything but the wisp of froth and lace in his arms. The last dance . . . murmured sighs and reluctant farewells. Then the long drive. A sleepy head on his shoulder. A darkened doorway and a lingering farewell . . . Satin slippers slowly ascending the staircase.

The Big Dance . . . the many hours of preparation . . . glowing smiles in Sorority Hall . . . animated chattering in the Student Union . . . the daydreaming . . . the careful planning of every detail . . . now only a memory . . . so important, and yet such a tiny event . . . soon it will be forgotten . . . disappearing into the multitude of memories which make up the past.

FINIS

. . . and so we turn the page and close another chapter of our lives. The memories of college life are warmly and comfortingly near. We remember with vivid clarity the classrooms filled with thoughtful inquiring minds, and the professors we loved so well. We remember the parties and dances, and the warm comradeship of friends with similar tastes and interests. We fondly cherish our successes and ignore our failures. The daily routine of college life takes on a rosy glow, and we begin to spin in and out of it a spidery thread of fact and fantasy.

But soon our recollections grow dimmer, and memories fade. Life takes on new meaning as we open a new book and start writing a new chapter. The memories that we so fondly cherished take on a new perspective, and we come to realize that imprints we have made will be washed away by the next tide . . . as
